HESSIAN FLY IS NOW IN PUPA STAGE

The Hessian fly in Knox county is now in what is known as the pupa stage within the little wax seeds that are found under the sheath, according to County Agent S. L. Anderson.

The way they are progressing now means that the fly will be emerging in the southern part of the county by the first of next week, but probably will not reach the maximum emergence before the last week in April. Those contemplating plowing up the fields in order to trap the fly should get it done before they start to emerge, which means that it will do little good to plow after the middle of next week.

NEW TREE PLANTED BY MASONS TODAY

A new buckeye tree was placed in Monument park, this afternoon by the Masons in honor of the boys of 14 Battery. It takes the place of one planted last year which died. The new tree stands in the southeast corner of the park, and is much larger than the one first planted. The organization took the greatest care to set this tree and there is every prospect for better luck in its taking root and living. The treasures which were planted at the roots of the first tree were replaced at the foot of the new one.

OBERLIN BUSINESS COLLEGE ITEMS.

The Spring Term at the Oberlin Business College has opened with a large attendance. Forty students entered the new shorthand class.

The class of 55 students which entered the Shorthand Department last September completed the course March 26, and are already located in positions at Cleveland, Wyria, Lorain, Akron and several other places. One rubber company at Akron sent a representative to Oberlin for 15 O. B. C. graduates.

Because of the reputation of this school for thorough work, the demand for its graduates has become so great that only a small part of the calls received can be filled. Young people of this community who would like to secure fine positions could make no mistake by spending a year in the Oberlin Business College. Nearly one hundred students have left this school to accept positions within the past few weeks.
